

ABOUT US

The Sturm Financial Group, Inc. (SFG) consists of community banks located in Colorado, Wyoming, Kansas, and Missouri and is owned by Donald and Susan Sturm.

With 39 locations conveniently placed throughout the communities they serve, the banking centers proudly offer personalized, quality service to their customers, with local staff and local decision-making.

The Sturm Financial Group maintains financial strength embodied in approximately $ 2.1 billion in assets and is headquartered in Denver, Colorado.

In 2004 SFG consolidated their banks in Colorado and Wyoming - Mesa National Bank (Western Colorado), The Bank of Cherry Creek (Denver), American National Bank (Wyoming) and Western National Bank (Colorado Springs). The consolidated banks are all under the American National Bank name, with assets exceeding $1.9 billion. The unification improves operational efficiencies and response times, gives the Bank customers multiple locations to choose from, provides an expanded asset base for large loan requests, and enhances the product and service offerings for business and personal use, while maintaining a high level of personal service to their customers. The remaining bank, Premier Bank in Kansas and Missouri, will continue under its current name.

Within American National Bank, there is a wholly owned subsidiary, Community First Data Services (CFDS). They provide mainframe processing and network services to include: application server management, check item processing and data and telecom services. These services are provided to all SFG banks as well as non-affiliated banks. They are located in Cheyenne, Wyoming.

The Sturm Group is a separate entity and it manages various investments to include real estate projects.
